TEXAS CATTLLEMEN FEELING MORE CHEERFUL THAN FOR YEARS.

Yearlings and Two-Year-Olds Selling in That State Higher Than a Year Ago-Southern Quarantine Will Soon Be in Force Again.

The Southern cattle situation this year In fairly healthy, and the cattlemen throughout Texas are feeling more cheerful than for several years. Zack Mulhall, the assistant live stock agent for the Santa Fe, is just back from a trip to Texas. He reports a good many cattle feeding, but says they were put on feed at different times and will be Standards

Senator Platt has introduced a bill providing that any Indian in the Five Tribes may apply to the United States courts and secure an order for his share of land to be set aside to him. It is believed that Indians now being imposed upon by the administration in that country would take their share of the lands and do much toward solving the land question in that country.

Payton Won From Kiing.

Pred Payton, the Omiha pool player, and John Kiing, the local champton, met for their second match at the Howard billiard pariors last evening. The game, which was 150 balls, was a closely contested one, Payton finally winning after a quite exciting finish by the score of 150 to 146. The winner was immediately challenged by William Hyle to a game for 50 a side, to be played at the Royal billiard hall. The challenge was accepted and a forfeit of $25 was deposited to bind the match.

The Certificate of the United States a Guar antee of the Edibility of the Product -Large Number of Inspections.

Omaha, Neb., Jan. 14.-Hon. J. Sterling Morton, secretary of agriculture, spent the Work of the Different Teams and Players forenoon looking over the microscopic department of the bureau of animal indus-try at Omaha. In reply to the question as to the object of his visit to the packing houses, the secretary said; "I am on a tour investigating some of the charges of Eurobean governments against American meat. Singularly enough, just at this time, the searchlights of Gormany and France are turned upon the methods of governmental meat inspection in the United States and I am credibly informed by a party of high standing, socially and politically, that certain foreign governments are exercising a sort of explonage over all the principal abattoirs of the United States. The objects of this is, undoubtedly, to find, if possible, some dereliction of duty on the part of the meat inspectors. Foreigners Highest score on Grand alleys-Kansas Citys 2,522 may desire to make out a case against the sanitary condition of American cattle and from that they premise to deduce the At the weekly roll of the Owl Bowling Club, on the Grand alleys last evening, Dietrich won the medal, with the big score of 55. cured American beef and other meats. But, during the year 1894, the United States department of agriculture inspected more than 12,000,000 head of cattle. Up to date not one of all these millions has been demonstrated to be otherwise than in a sound sanitary condition. It is true, however, that within the last four months, from a certain foreign port, a case of con-tagious pleuro-pneumonia in an American fat steer was proclaimed. But the de-purtment demanded at once by cable the number of the tag upon that animal and number of the tag upon that animal and the transmission of a part of the lungs. The tag came and the animal was traced by its number to a farm where it was born and raised in the Bluegrass regions of Kentucky. The animal had what veterinarians call transit-pneumonia, i. e., cold taken on the Atlantic voyage. The investigation proved there never had been a great of thems are never had been a great of thems.

tigation proved there never had been a case of pleuro-pneumonia nor any other communicable or contagious disease during the last ten years. The European diagnosis seemed to have been made to order for the purpose of furnishing a sanitary reason for the exclusion of American live stock. The truth is, there has not been a case of pleure reasonable among the cattle herist. The truth is, there has not been a case of pleuro-pneumonia among the cattle herds of the American republic during the past three years. Nor was the sanitary condition of American herds and flocks ever more satisfactory than it is to-day.

"As to microscopic inspection," continued Mr. Morton, "it will be continued and the continued of the conti only for that houses that have a German or French demand for export hog prod-ucts. During the last fiscal year 15,000,000 more pounds of pork were microscopically inspected than during any previous year.

all that inspection was made for the pur-pose of satisfying the demands in that regard of German and French consumers. And while it cost the people of the United States a considerable sum to thus cater to those two foreign markets, the amount expectation was expended for microscopic inspection was $78,000 less than during the preceding year. "The number of cattle inspected for that fiscal year more than doubled that of any previous year. The expense of cattle inspection was reduced from 4% cents perhead to 1% cents per head.

"This last year we inspected more than 12,000,000 head of cattle and the highest number ever inspected during any previous year was less than 5,000,000. "It is my ambitton," said the secretary, "and my duty to make the United States"

neat inspection so thorough, so efficient and just, that not a single animal, or a and just, that not a single animal, or a single pound of meat unfit for human food can possibly be passed onto the interstate or export markets. The stamp or tag of the United States inspection should be, either at home or abroad, as satisfactory a guaranty of edibility as the certificate of the assayer of the United States mint or the assayer of the United States mint is to the fineness and weight of an logot of gold. It is, therefore, the intention of the United States agricultural department to give its certification of cattle, swine and all the products thereof of the highest noney-purchasing power that those com modities can be endowed with anywhere in the civilized, meat-eating world."

Washington, Jan. 11.—(Special.) Some of the members of the Oklahoma contingent had a conference with Senators Allison and had a conference with Senators Allison and Cockrell to-day on the Oklahoma statehood bill. Senator Allison said he would favor the passage of the bill at this session. He did not know what the politics of the new state would be with the Chickasaw country added, nor did he care; but he did know that that country should be admitted to the Union and that there is now enough people and enough property interests there to form a great state. He believed that on the Republican side of the chamber there would be no difficulty of getting all to support a statehood bill.
